

Labour Market Liberalisation after the Lehman Crisis: France, Germany and Japan in Comparative Perspective

German Institute for Japanese Studies (DIJ), Tokyo

Workshop Programme

Friday, December 14th

9:45 – 10:00 Welcome

10:00 - 12:00 Panel 1: Changes in Public Sentiment and their Implications for Labour Market Policy

Chair: Steffen Heinrich, German Institute for Japanese Studies (DIJ)

When Voters Favour the Social Investment Welfare State

Marc Brazzill and Hideko Magara, Waseda University, Yuki Yanai, Kochi Institute of Technology

Solidarity and Self-Interest Theories: Testing Segmentation and Social Welfare Preferences in France, Germany, Japan and South Korea

Nate Breznau, University of Bremen

Labour Market Dualisation, Inequality Aversion and Policy Change

Paul Marx, University of Duisburg-Essen

The Change in Labour Market Policy Preferences in Germany, Japan and Taiwan before and after the 2008 Financial Crisis

Chung-Yang Yeh, Soochow University

12:00-13:30 Lunch break

13:30-15:30

Panel 2: Post-Lehman Labour Policy: Priority on Economic Growth or Social Protection?

Chair: tbd

Contesting the 'Liberal Pensée Unique'? In-Work Benefits in France and Germany before and after the Crash

Daniel Clegg and Jochen Clasen, University of Edinburgh

Still on the Path of Liberalisation? Reforms of Non-Standard Work in Germany and Japan after the Lehman Crash

Steffen Heinrich, German Institute for Japanese Studies (DIJ)

Economic Growth through Social Protection? Tentative Analysis on the Nature of PM Abe's Work Style Reform

Shinji Kojima, Ritsumeikan Asia Pacific University

Changing Discourses on Labour Market Inequalities after the Lehman Crisis in Japan

Machiko Osawa, Japan's Women University

15:30-15:45

Coffee break

15:45-17:45

Panel 3: How Have Corporate Practices and Industrial Relations Changed?

Chair: Werner Pascha, University of Duisburg-Essen

Agency Work and Subcontracting in German Core Sectors: (How) Can Collective Bargaining Stop the Casualisation of Work?

Chiara Benassi, King's College London

The Role of Labour Flexibility in the Pursuit of Innovation Strategies by Established Japanese Companies

Kostiantyn Ovsianikov, University of Tsukuba

From Structure to Strategy: The Changing Role of Corporatism in German Labour Market Policies

Florian Spohr, University of Bochum

Japan's Gender-Labour Dilemma - an Institutional Political Analysis

Midori Wakamori and Charles Weathers, Osaka City University

- 17:45-18:00 Coffee break
- 18:00-19:30 Public Roundtable: Labour Politics after the Global Financial Crisis: French, German and Japanese Perspectives
Bruno Amable, University of Geneva
Paul Marx, University of Duisburg-Essen
Mari Miura, Sophia University
- 19:30 Buffet reception

Day 2 – Saturday, December 15th

- 10:00-12:00 Panel 4: Changing Growth Models and their Social and Political Implications
Chair: Mari Yamauchi, Doshisha University
- Contesting Growth Models: Social Movements in Comparative Political Economy
Saori Shibata, University of Leiden
- Japanese Labour and Social Policy between TPP and the Crisis of the Global Liberal Order
Yves Tiberghien, University of British Columbia
- Automation, Wage Inequality, and the Moderating Role of Labour Market Institutions: Evidence from 21 OECD Member States
Zach Parolin, University of Antwerp
- Japan's 'Work-Style' Reform: Deregulatory and Worker-Protective Policies as an Economic Growth Strategy
Hiroaki Watanabe, University of Sheffield
- 12:00-13:30 Lunch break

13:30-15:30	Panel 5: Labour Markets and Institutional Change Chair: Sebastien Lechevalier, EHES French Employment Policy and Labour Market Reforms, the Political Economy of a Neoliberal Transformation. Bruno Amable, University of Geneva Non-Standard Work and Labour Market Segmentation: Institutional Change and Occupational Shifts Werner Eichhorst, IZA and University of Bremen, and Verena Tobsch, INES Berlin Logics of Liberalisation under Non-Liberal Capitalism: Japan's, France's and Germany's Trajectories Compared Stefan Heeb, University of Geneva "Pernicious Institutional Complementarity" and the Politics of Welfare and Labour Reform in Japan Takaaki Suzuki, Ohio University
15:30-15:45	Coffee break
15:45-16:30	Wrap-Up and Discussion of Publication Project
16:30	End of workshop